Quiz Result Issue 3

Issue 4 was sent to the printers before the winner of the Quiz in Issue 3 was determined. Those who entered all did extremely well and after a tie for first place a draw took place and Michael Sutton was the successful entrant. Considering the circulation of in excess of 2500 the response to the Quizzes in Issues 2 and 3 represented less than 1 %, this in a village with a thriving Quiz League!

FOREWORD

Tell here we are, another summer almost over and what a busy one it has been for Sileby. The Jubilee celebrations included a Party in the Park, a Dance and the unveiling of a new Village Sign.

We have had new building developments including the purpose built Leonard Cheshire facility and there are forces for positive change about. Here at the village magazine (that numerous among you made a request for in the Village Appraisal Questionnaire) we find ourselves getting desperately short of good quality material to include in future issues.

Despite our recent poster campaign – nothing! Once again, may we state that all inclusions are welcome and new blood on the team would be very much appreciated. Perhaps there are some of our younger readers who would be interested in the role of Junior Reporter?

We want this publication to continue to bring you the news, views and history of Sileby but without your contributions it simply will fade away. Please support the magazine and let's watch it go from strength to strength.

The exhibition will be open between 10:30am and 5:00pm, and will feature at least seven exhibits in a range of gauges from 2mm to the foot to 7mm to the foot. Three of the layouts featured will not have been seen in the East Midlands before and of course, Thomas will be there for the children.

Why not come along with your family?

The Regeneration Game

am by my very nature an optimist. It means that I usually see change as an opportunity rather than a threat. I have lived in the Soar valley for most of my life and for the last 12 years in Sileby and Quorn. I have seen what a difference local community involvement can have in transforming a place and what leaving it to others can do. I personally still believe that Sileby potentially has the most exciting prospects for positive change over the next decade if driven properly and locally.

Sileby, like other villages does not stand still. It has some really difficult and painful changes to manage. So what has Sileby had in recent times? One of the interesting things about being an MP is being involved with so many different initiatives across the whole constituency.

I have followed a number of community led bids that I have backed like the £42,000 for Sileby Tennis Club, (now providing the best facilities of all the villages locally) and like the thousands won and spent on the purpose built Youth Centre, the £100,000 from the lottery to go towards improving the community centre at the Catholic Church and the £100,000 available for economic regeneration to provide employment opportunities in the village.

There is massive investment going into flood relief too and not before time. Sileby is the only village to get this money and strangely enough I hear other villages moaning that Sileby seems to be getting it all at the moment. Yet I know that I usually hear this as the familiar complaint from Sileby.

What prompted me to remind myself about how much has gone into the village was a letter from somebody who wondered why Quorn had a skateboard ramp and not Sileby? It finished 'Sileby can be a lovely place too'.

I couldn't agree more about the last sentiment. With a bit of love and care as well as a clear vision of where it wants to go it can be. But, as I have said before, this has to be locally driven. Quorn has a skateboard park because its Parish Council paid for it. In fact most of the things happening in Quorn are driven by an active Parish Council and private developers responding to a clear vision set out and steadily delivered.

My great hope is that the Sileby village appraisal is clear enough to give a real idea of what people want and that can be realistically delivered in Sileby. Once this is in place all of those with influence and energy can pull in the same direction to make it happen. Without a goal the future shape of the village is uncertain.

I personally want to get behind such a vision and pull all of the agencies in to help deliver it. From my years of experience of working in economic and social regeneration before becoming an MP, I can help but it has to be locally led. That is why I have called for the Planners not to get carried away with simple housing developments but to give the village the balance that made it such a thriving place industry, housing, leisure and shops.

Of course more is needed to transform the village, but the public purse and lottery can only do so much; the rest will come from private developers. The village has an unemployment rate of 2.8%, a healthy housing stock, a railway line, and a wide range of community facilities.

Now the challenge is to turn the opportunity of Brownfield sites into something that benefits the village. This will only be achieved through a locally held and owned vision for the future and driven through by energetic, enthusiastic local individuals and groups working with a vibrant and forward looking Parish Council. The school report would read 'Sileby has been through some difficult times, has great potential but must now work hard to realise its assets.'

In the next issue I want to tackle the problems of sporting and recreational facilities in the village, so I would like to hear from people about their views over the next few weeks.

Gardening

You either love it or you hate it, I am myself though, rather middle of the road (sorry, garden) until all began to change at the beginning of this year.

I answered a small ad in the Leicester Mercury, which was asking for anyone interested in helping to set up a Gardening Club in Sileby.

We had our first informal meeting in March, attended by eight people from different areas of the village. We sat around a table not really knowing how to begin.

So we supposed the only relevant thing to do was to throw the seeds of ideas around, wait for germination and then start planting – with the emphasis to bring a feeling of community spirit to gardeners in the village. With Mr Roy Brown's guidance, a committee was formed, thus "The Gardening Gnomes" was founded. Ploughing our way with enthusiasm, we discussed venues, open monthly meetings, outings to gardens, arboretums and garden centres and much, much more.

Our first open meeting took place in June with a speaker from Brooksby College, which was a great success.

We are growing steadily in numbers, so if you would like to join or participate in any way, please contact the secretary on Sileby (01509) 812698, or just come along to hear the speaker and enjoy the evening. After all, the "answer lies in the soil".

Then come on down to Sileby Youth Club between 6 and 8pm. With activities planned throughout all of the summer what more can you ask for? Now the Youth Club is going to be even better due to the fact that the Millennium Awards have given us a grant for new and better equipment.

So it's exciting times for the Youth Club and you could be a part of it. We are also looking to hear from anyone who wishes to volunteer to help the youth workers run the club. No experience is needed. The only requirement is to be willing to make a difference to the young people of Sileby and be willing to learn.

We need a guiding light!!

Could this be you??

Could you spare a little time To help some younger folk? They're keen to learn, love games and fun

And also like a joke.

Many Brownies, Rainbows and Guides Are feeling rather sad: Their leader's leaving, or she's gone Although they're not that bad!

If no-one else comes forward, their units will close down, No weekly meetings to enjoy, nor outings up to town.

They'll miss the games they love to play, and all the things they learn, And as for younger sisters They'll never get a turn. No special skills are needed, Just time and patience too, And there's a really friendly District team

To show you what to do.

"But where have all the Guider's gone?"

I'm sure you'll want to know,
"Those maiden aunts and dear old folk
Who did it years ago?"

Those people aren't around these days Its down to you and me, To give our time, make lots of friends And help the youngsters too.

It's all too easy just to sit And hope for someone new But Guides and Brownies now are run By people just like you!

We are looking for leaders to help with Rainbow, Brownies and Guide units in Sileby.

If you are aged between 18 and 65 and you would like to know more about helping with these units, we would love to hear from you.

- Full training and support will be given to all new leaders.
- Becoming a leader not only helps the girls but also opens up a world of friendship and new experiences for yourself!!

Diabetes, have a chronic chest condition, kidney problems or your immune system is affected or you are over 65 years of age, then a Flu jab is recommended.

Your surgery may send for you automatically by letter. If this does not happen then contact them in October to see if you are eligible. Have a happy, Bug Free winter!

Please help to find Sid

On Friday July 19th Sid, a tortoise, went missing from his Ratcliffe Road home. Missing presumed stolen, as he was left basking in his pen in the back garden. The large 30 year old tortoise has been with the family since he was a baby and is very friendly. He loves the company of humans and his favourite foods are lettuce, cucumber and tomatoes.

Swift on his feet and not adverse to nipping toes and ramraiding shoes Sid is quite a character and very much missed by his owners who are appealing for his safe return.

If you have any information regarding his disappearance please contact Patrick on 01509 815928 or the Police on 0116 222 2222

"QUALITY OF LIFE" LAUNCH

Charnwood Borough Council launched its Sustainability Strategy in August following extensive public consultation. This Strategy is a statement of the Council's contribution to sustainability, sometimes referred to as "Quality of Life" issues. It addresses the economic, social and environmental well-being of the community in a joined-up approach and seeks to meet the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their needs.

The Sustainability Strategy has eleven sections covering all aspects of quality of life from democracy and partnership to transport and access, from education and training to crime and safety, from waste and pollution to health and the local economy and more besides. The Strategy supersedes the Council's Environmental Charter which has defined the Council's stance of green issues since 1992, and reflects recent changes in legislation which favour an integrated approach to these matters.

Much of my work during the last two years has been to develop this Strategy and take it through various internal and external consultation processes.

Although these consultations seemed endless at the time, they did improve the document no end and so it was time and money well spent. So now its here, launched and printed, on the web, in the libraries and with Borough Councillors and Officers and with the Parish Councils. What of it? What changes?

Quality of Life, Sustainability, call it what you will, is a difficult concept to describe and even more difficult to implement. It's one of those "you know it when you see it things". It's an umbrella term that covers anything which, in the jargon, is to do with the economic, social and environmental well-being of the community preferably in a joined up way. In other words you try not to trade off for example economic improvements for environmental damage or social improvements for reduced economic performance etc. etc. And you try to pull off this difficult stunt without denving future generations their chance. It's not easy. Compromises have to be made. Hopefully, the Sustainability Strategy will help to guide and influence those compromises to the benefit of the Charnwood community as a whole in the months and years to come.

Much of the groundwork which shaped Central Government and hence Local Government thinking on these issues came out of the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development (UNCED) held in Rio de Janeiro in 1992. Here we are ten years later and at the time of writing we seem to be arguing the toss as to whether the Environment Minister should attend the Johannesburg Conference and can we outdo each other by sending the smallest possible delegation. We have a million miles to go with this but poor people around the world live daily with the consequences of failing to get to grips with these issues. Economic migration and erratic weather patterns are two ways in which the lack of sustainability makes itself felt in the developed world.

These challenges are huge, amongst the biggest which we confront and they do seem daunting. But our own impact on the environment begins where we are, where we live, work and play starting right here in Sileby. There's a whole string of things that each and every one of us can do to bring about change. Here's just a few examples to think about. Treat yourself to some Fair Trade tea, coffee, chocolate, bananas etc, check out Give As You Earn and get Gordon Brown to donate a bit extra to your chosen cause, use the bus once a week and let someone else have the stress of driving, make sure your car is well serviced and adjusted so that it isn't polluting unnecessarily, recycle more and recycle better, get your house well insulated and draught proofed and get your boiler serviced before the heating season, build or buy a home-composter or sort out that unproductive heap down the garden. The list is endless. Lots of things you can do will save you money or add diversity to your life. Just start somewhere, anywhere, it doesn't matter. Any one of us can make a difference and if we fail to do so we risk handing back the planet in worse shape than it was given to us at a time when we can do more than any previous generation. In the words of Chief Seathl "We do not inherit the earth from our ancestors, we borrow it from our children"

For further information on the Sustainability Strategy see the Council's web site www.charnwoodbc.gov.uk or contact Environmental Co-ordinator, David Cannon on (01509) 634901 or email policy.unit@charnwoodbc.gov.uk.

SPORTS NEWS

SILEBY TOWN CRICKET CLUB

Clubhouse & Ground: Mill Lane, Sileby, Leicestershire.

Website: www.silebytown.co.uk

HOW HEALTHY IS YOUR CRICKET CLUB?

Just as a tree can only flourish if its roots are healthy, then the same is true of a cricket club, and I am pleased to say that Sileby Town Cricket Club is incredible healthy as its roots have never been better. By its roots I am referring to our remarkable junior section.

The volunteer managers and coaches look after 60 to 70 juniors which form two teams of youngsters under the age of 10 years old who play Kwik Cricket, the starting point for some of our top internationals, who play in teams of eight with a plastic bat and ball. Everyone is involved. One team at the next age group of under 11's, these play Incrediball using proper kit but with a soft ball. There is also one team at each of the-other age groups, who all use proper kit, are under 13's, under 15's and under 17's

What is remarkable this year is the amount of juniors at this small village club being asked to represent their county, Leicestershire, at their respective age groups. Sileby has two players in the county under 9 age group, not only playing with a proper hard ball but playing 30 overs a side, they are Daryl Hands a truly gifted left handed batsman, and Andrew Kenneth, a fast bowler who can bowl straight. The county have also selected one of our under 10's, Michael Ruddle, a genuine all rounder, he is a confident cricketer who is keen to learn and loves to bowl and field as well as bat.

At the under 11 age group Liam Kinch has caught the county selectors eye again and has retains his place for a second year. Liam is also another good exciting all rounder. Charles Kindleysides a new player to the club this year, has progressed rapidly into the district squad as a batsman, and will surely be pushing for a full county place next year.

Narrowly missing out at under 13 full county honours is Phil Hackett, but he has made the district squad, which is the reserve team for the county, and with a full winters coaching ahead, will be knocking on the door next year as a fast bowler.

Under 15's this year is not as strong as previous years, but again there is a player, Tom Marriott who has got through to the district squad. Tom could probably have made the full county squad had he not been so good at other sports including football and tennis, a true all round sportsman.

The top junior age group at Sileby Town is the under 17s. All of our under 17's also play senior cricket in the men's teams and do the club proud, whether it is in the 4th XI, 3rd XI, 2nd XI, or 1st XI. Lee Medcroft and Phillip Chamberlain are full county under 17 players, and a third player, Matt Ellis has like Charles and Tom narrowly missed out this year, as the county this year have an embarrassment of riches in the fast bowling department. These three, all fantastic bowlers, play in the 1st XI, opposing sides often complementing them by suggesting that they are the best trio of fast bowlers in the league.

Lee Medcroft a lad that only started cricket at the age of 14 has taken the club into new territory. He is now playing for the county at under 17 in two day matches, also in board XI games, and full Leicestershire 2nd XI cricket, and has this month answered the call to play for ENGLAND at under 17 level. Not bad for a small VILLAGE cricket club, Who competes against town and city sides who have more resources than we do.

If you or anyone in your family would like to play cricket, please contact Richard James at the ground (most nights), or telephone 01509-812169. Also to keep producing this quaff of players, if anyone would like to help Sileby Town in any way please contact Richard James, maybe as a volunteer running a side, or with much needed finances through sponsorship.

Sileby Tennis Club

Christine Thompson For Sileby Tennis Club

Tennis in Sileby is on the up!

We now have a Junior Team to represent the village in the Leicestershire League Barry Rees Shield and the Fallows Cup. The Juniors have had an excellent first season by winning four of their ten matches, under the leadership of Liz Copson.

During the Spring and Summer Holidays, numerous coaching courses have been held at the four All – Weather courts. Also during the Holiday, Liz has organised friendly matches, Fun Tennis and the Sileby Championships, culminating in a Parent and Child Tournament and Presentation Afternoon in September.

There are now over seventy children playing tennis from Sileby and the surrounding villages from the age of seven to sixteen.

Which leads us to the Adults. The Club plays two ladies, two mens and one mixed team in the Summer Leicestershire League, and two ladies and one mens team in the Winter league. There are over sixty adults playing tennis not only on Monday and Wednesday evenings and Sunday afternoons, which are organised Club events, but most other evenings as well.

The adults also have their own Club Championships, with Finals Day being in September.

Play does not end then, as Sunday afternoons are still well attended all through the winter.

The club will end the year with the Annual Dinner and Presentation Evening in November.

To welcome in 2003, a special New Year Tournament is arranged with wine and mince pies.

The Aussie in Sileby

Leicestershire County Cricket Club is not the only club in the county to boast a star Antipodean cricketer.

Sileby Town Cricket Club has it's own Australian Batting Star, Ben Cavey.

Born in Mordialloc, Melbourne, Victoria, Australia in 1971, ben played for Dingley, Brighton, Victoria and Old Mentions before coming to England to play for Sileby in 1999, where, apart from a short spell in London, he has lived ever since.

He works in Leicester as a Geotechnical Engineer, designing foundations for housing developments and performing contamination risk assessment for human health and groundwater.

In his leisure time, he can often be found in best Australian tradition behind a pint in the Free Trade Inn, but it is his success on the cricket field for which he is best known.

During the season he scored 950 runs including 4 hundreds, a 98 not out and 3 other scores over 50. A record for Sileby Town C.C.

Good on yer Cobber.
